Dedication

The sun is setting.
Night's veil begins to fall.
Our year lies behind us.
Its memories
    Of happiness
        And joy
    Of sorrow
        And tears
Are captured vibrations
Echoing in our silent hearts.

Christ
Present in each longing soul
Confronts our flaxen goals
And challenges us to high aspirations..
Our realization
Our consciousness
    Of His very being
Is heightened in us
Through their dedication.

Our reaching hearts
And searching minds
Are richer for their many gifts.
The fruits of knowledge
Are borne to us
As the power of learning envelopes us.

The brilliance
And beauty
Of our magnificant heritage
And resplendent culture
Are poured into our receptive hands
To make our own
And pass to future generations.
The femininity
Each possesses as a Christ-centered woman
Is made inspirational
Through their greatest gift,
Their love.

To the faculty
    Channels of our knowledge
    Streams of our spirituality
    Beacons to our womanhood
We dedicate in deep appreciation
    Our year with you,
        Our Echoes '65.

SISTER M. REGINA ANN, Superior

Chairman of Religion Dept., Religion.

In 1844, Mother Marie Rose established the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Names in Canada. Twenty four years later, six Sisters sailed for California and after an arduous trip, arrived on May 10, 1868. The Catholics of St. Mary's Parish, which at the time embraced all of Oakland, eagerly welcomed them. Hearing of plans to build the convent near Lake Merritt, the parishioners refused their financial assistance. Why should the Sisters be put "away out in the wilderness where there were only rabbits and ducks?" Their pastor, Father Michael King, refused to listen to the complaints and the convent was built on the shores of the Lake.

A grammar school and high school were established and in 1872, the first graduation took place. Eight years after the schools opened, a college was chartered. To allow needed room for the expanding college, in 1931 the grammar and high schools were moved to our present Holy Names buildings. In 1954, the "wilderness" on Lake Merritt was sold to the Kaiser Company and the college moved to its present location on Mountain Boulevard in Oakland.

In the ninety seven years of its existence, the province of California has grown steadily. Today almost 500 Sisters staff 38 schools attended by students ranging from first-graders to candidates for the M.A. degree. The zeal and dedication of the six Canadian Sisters are repeated in California's six missionaries in Arequipa, Peru.

" . . . to thy tender hands we entrust the hearts of the children confided by their parents to our care . . . " is the daily prayer of every Sister.

Today, we inaugurate a new year of opportunity —a year of potential for all. To you, Freshmen, it is a year of trial . . . Sophomores, continue in the same direction on which you set your sights last year . . . We extend a special welcome to you, Juniors, for you have reached the halfway mark . . . Finally, welcome to you, Seniors, you who are the pivots of the school.

Together, not as separate classes, but as a body, we have our sights and our common goal: A unity of persons, not a mass of individuals. With this in mind, we have only one destination, with God's help—success!

Executive Council

To prepare us as effective citizens, government is actualized at Holy Names. The Legislative powers of the Student Body and other school organizations is supplemented and channeled through the Executive Council. Students are represented in this council through their elected major officers. It serves as a senate for the Student Body. Through its coordinating functions, student government is made efficient and effective. Students are free to attend the monthly open meetings where they see this government in action.

An amendment to the SSC constitution passed this year, raised the coordinators to the rank of major officers, and so included them in the Executive Council.

The Publicity Coordinator enlivens the celebration of the liturgical year by illustrating various events on the SSC bulletin board.

The Mission Coordinator brings others to greater realization of the role of charity in the world. Through Mission Wednesday, a small mission in Peru, a child's day of grace, and the missions at home will be enriched.

The Apostolic Coordinator brings to life the motto "Charity begins at home". Christmas cards, poor family baskets and works of mercy bring Christ to others so that the world may know love.

Cindi Coleman, Sandy Ragan, and Jan Walsh busily count programs in anticipation of the Mother Marie Rose Play.

One of the goals of Holy Names High School is to enrich the students' religious life. Sodality helps this purpose. Through this organization we acquire a fuller understanding of what it means to be a committed Catholic of today and tommorrow.

As Max Eastman once said, "To live is good. To live vividly is better. To live vividly together is best." This is the aim of the G.A.A. . . . Freshmen, we welcome you with anticipation . . . Don't waste your energy, Sophomores, but rather let it overflow to the rest of us . . . Juniors, we extend to you a special welcome . . . And Seniors, as leaders of the school, let your reputation for skill and sportsmanship serve as a beacon for all to follow. To all of you the G.A.A. extends a warm welcome and, in union with Our Lady of Victory, invites you to "live vividly together" through the G.A.A.

Cap 'N' Bell

Cap 'n' Bell is the drama organization at Holy Names. Its aim is to familiarize the students with the theater. Six workshops are the instruments through which members learn to participate in, and produce all types of dramatic productions. These workshops are: costumes, acting, make-up, lights, stage crew, and props. During the year, Cap 'n' Bell members have taken active and lively parts in productions like the children's play, "Puss in Boots," the Christmas play, and the operetta, "Sweethearts" by Victor Herbert. The Cap 'n' Bell is a growing organization and is playing a more vital role each year.

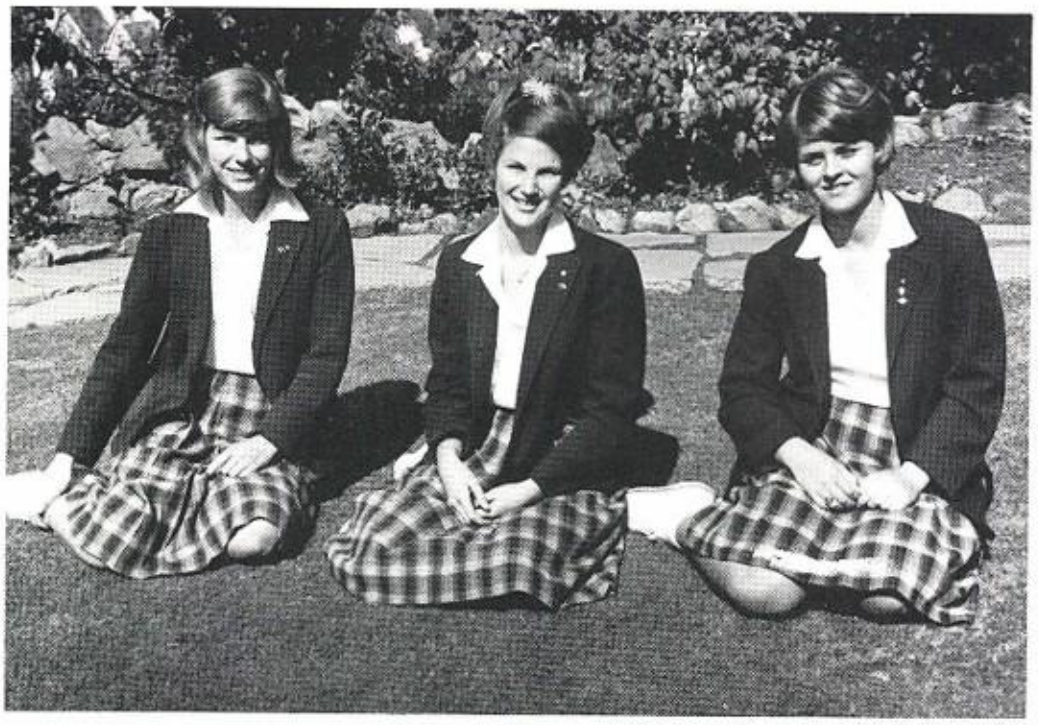
Choral

The sound of harmonious voices of the Holy Names Choral brightens the hearts of many throughout the year. Audiences this year, ranged from the student bodies of Holy Names and Saint Mary's, to the entire Bay Area, when the choral sang on Christmas Eve for a K.G.O. telecast. By giving beautiful and skillful performances, the choral is able to fulfill its two-fold purpose, which is to give pleasure to its listeners and glory to God.



Kathy Paulus, Sec.-Treas.; Colleen Donohue, President; and JoAnne Gelinas, Vice-pres. help organize the Choral in its various activities.

Religion and Guidance

Our Religion course is the motivating force of our Christian life. Each girl participates more fully in her work as a member of the Mystical Body, because she appreciates the knowledge she has of her faith. To supplement this teaching, guidance, under direction of our homeroom teachers, enables each girl to complete and use the knowledge she has and with this direction the student incorporates her knowledge in all activities. Thus, we become the Christian women we were created to be.

Under the careful instruction of Father Skillin, the Seniors prepare for one of the many serious careers—marriage.

The most productive part of guidance is the many ideas that evolve from it. Here Ann looks through the many pamphlets that are offered.

God's plan of salvation is among the many courses of instruction taught throughout our four years of Religion.

English

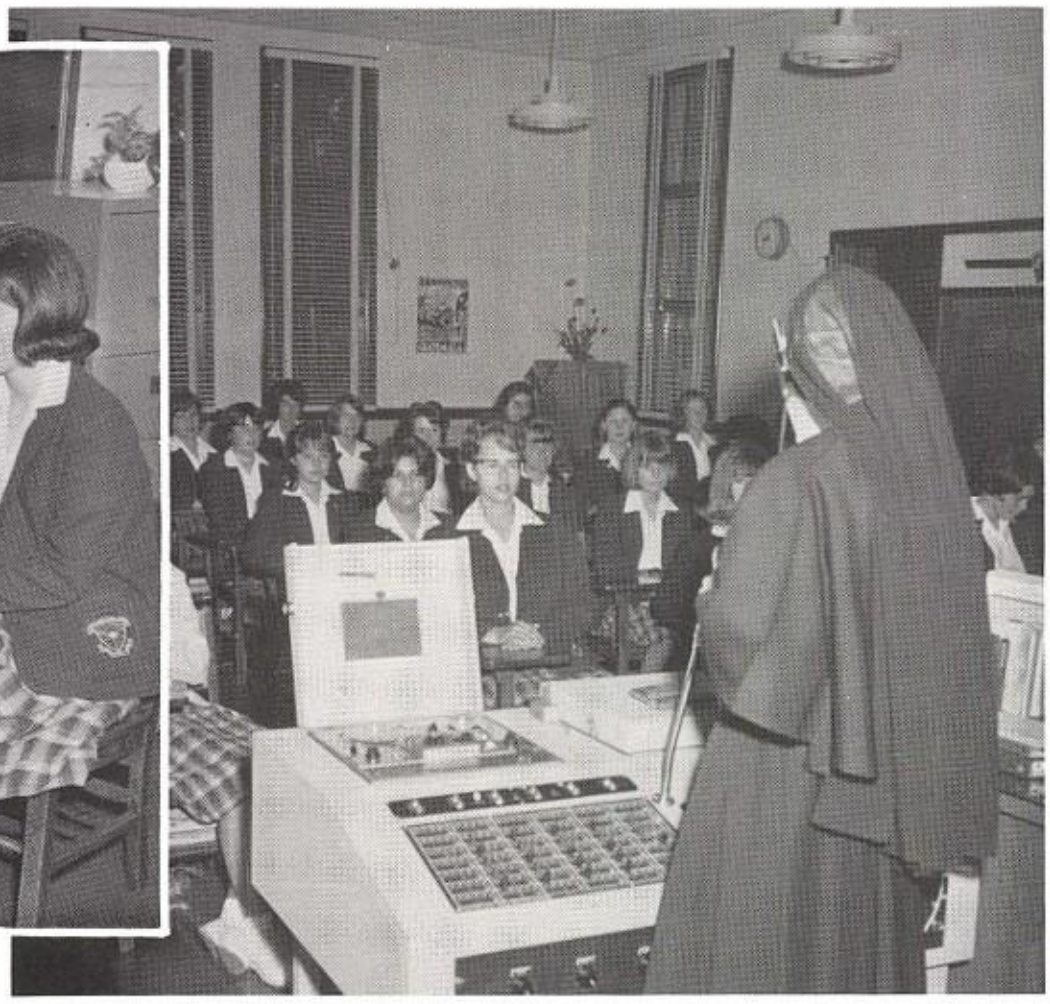
Foreign Languages

Here Julie Crosby recreates a portion from Macbeth.

Our English and Foreign Language departments are designed to enable each student to master the art of communication, not only with our English speaking neighbors, but with those of foreign tongue. The language lab installed last year, makes the student proficient in her speaking abilities and rapidly imparts to each, a thorough command of grammar, vocabulary and pronunciation, vital for communication.

Candy Alford and Pam Fleitz post critiques for Open House.

Here Sandy and Joan converse in Italian IV class. This is one of the many methods used in making linguists.



To supplement our language lab, a smaller model is installed in the classroom to allow greater use of this facility.

The Social Studies department at Holy Names enables us, as Christian girls and citizens of the United States, to prepare for our future. Studying man and his society, past and present, helps us achieve a deeper meaning of the role we must fulfill.

Kathy Belleci and Barbara McFarland debate a point in a civics-sociology class discussion.

Social Studies

The World History class traces the civilization of man.

A group of girls discuss the history of the United States.

Science

Today we find ourselves in a very competitive and rapidly advancing world. Science and mathematics are becoming more essential. Not only in specific fields are these subjects important but also in everyday life. Mathematics develops a clear-thinking, calculating mind. Science develops our interest through the study of nature and its forces.

Ann Repetto and Denise Lilian study the time intervals with a disc.

Judy Guibert and Sharon Billings observe a reaction in Chemistry.

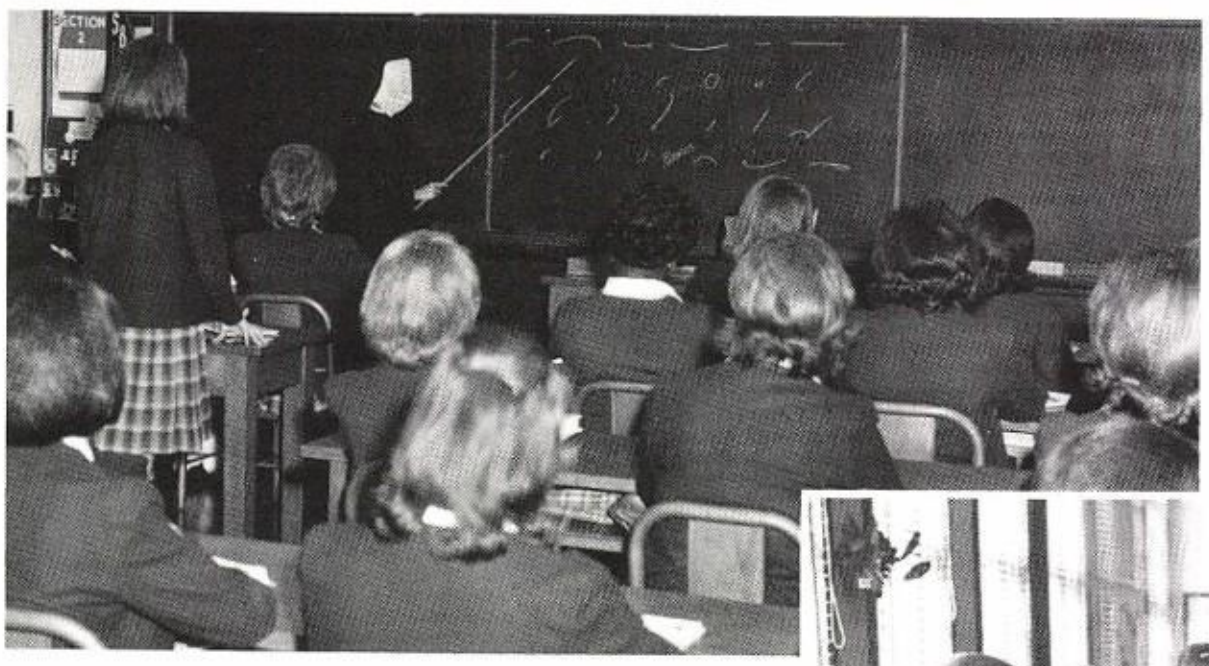
The Algebra II class learns to use a slide rule.

Math

Insurance of efficient and accurate work from its graduates is the aim of the business department. Sister John Marie and Sister Clara Mary educate future secretaries, helping to make them proficient in the skills of typing and stenography. Through office and clerical practice classes, the students are also familiarized with the business machines.

Consumer Economics provides the students with adequate knowledge about the social and economic problems which they will face in daily living.

Business



Sister Clara Mary has the complete attention of the Steno I class as she presents the work of the day.

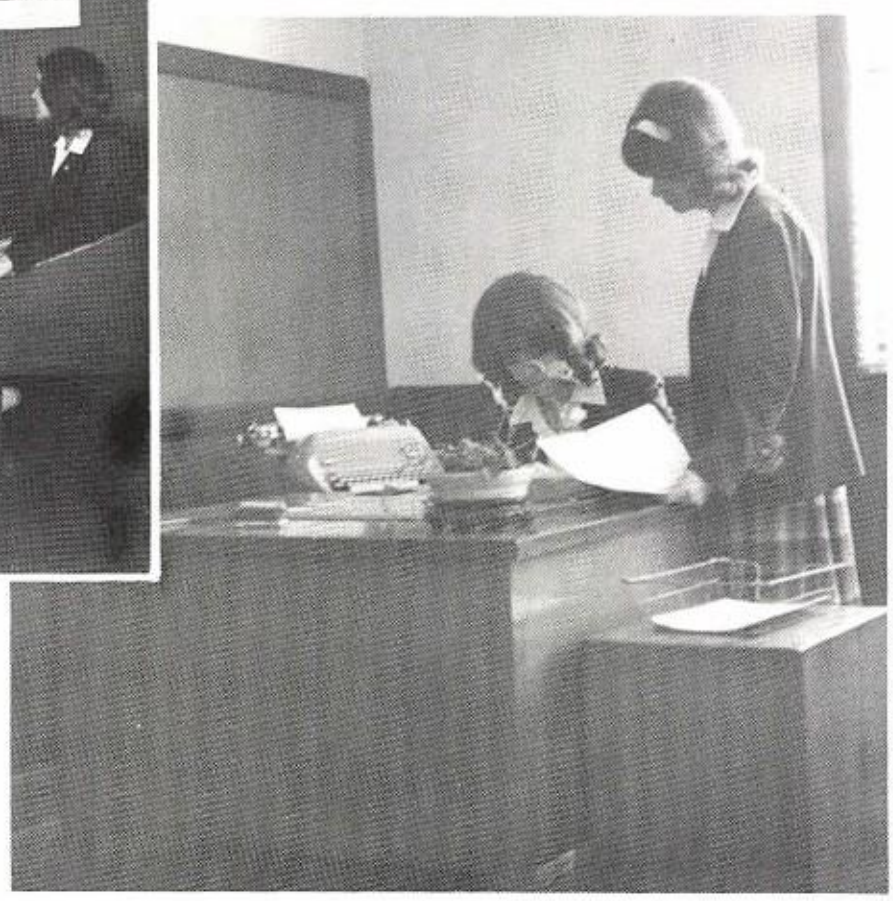
Department



Part of the curriculum for these girls is to experience life situations met within the business office.

The Consumer Economics Class has graphically displayed the importance of the Board of Directors, Stock Holders, and the role each play in the corporation.

What is the Scroll Pin? For the girls taking the Business Program, the Scroll Pin is an honor given to those with a B in all of the Department subjects. Each quarter a gold scroll is awarded to the student of the group with the highest average. Only Juniors and Seniors may participate in this field and so it is an honor only the upper classmen may achieve.

Two students slave over note work in Music and Art Appreciation.

Music

Hard work and effort on the part of both Sisters and the music students can be heard upon entering the music halls. The development of skills and techniques in this field urge these students to appreciate the world of music.

Freshmen report on the fine work of Hayden.

The art students draw pictures of Denise Isola.

Art

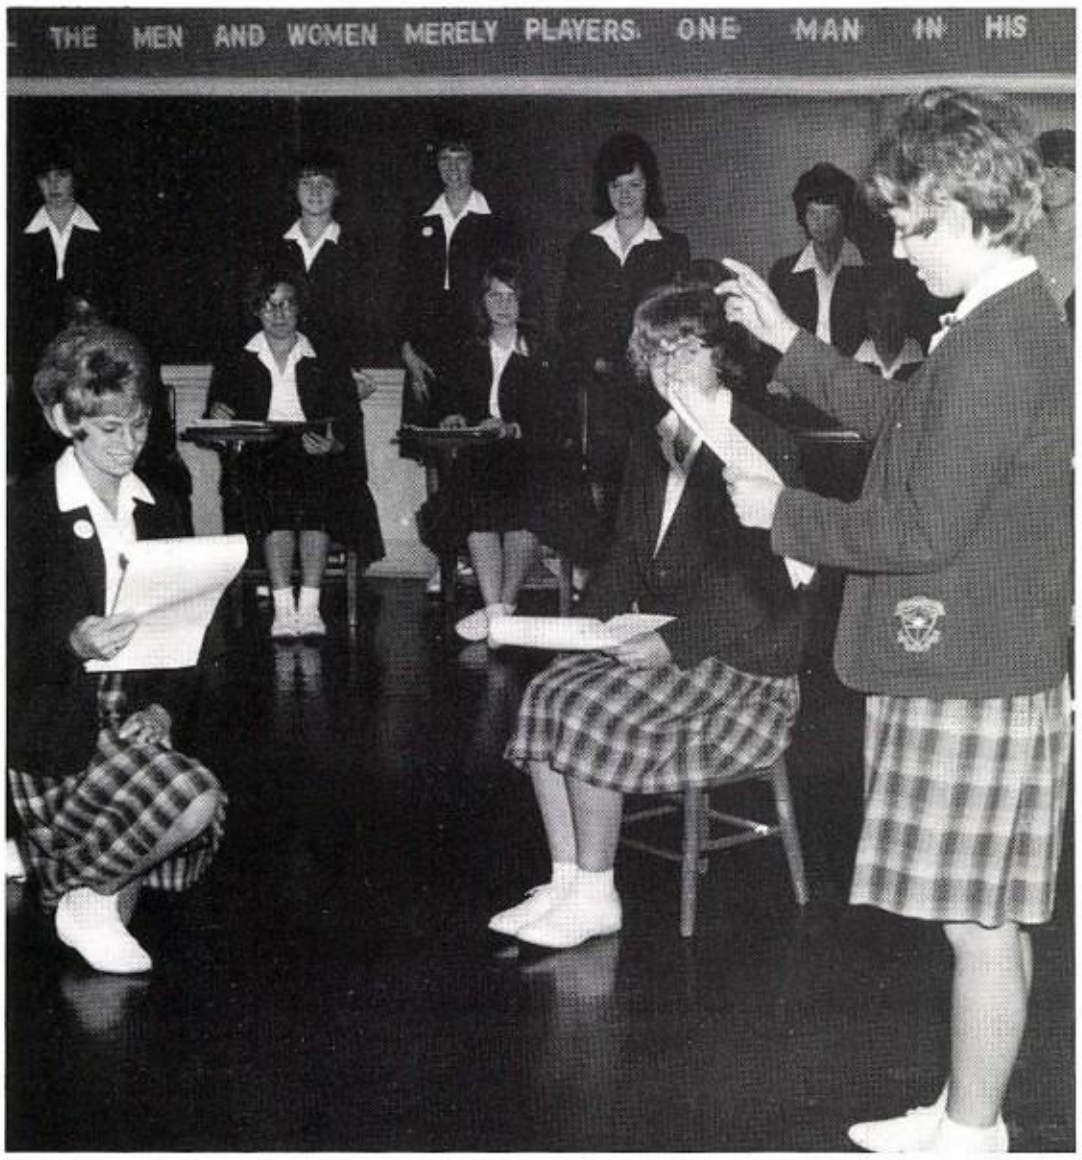
The Art Department offers to its students the opportunity to develop their talents. These girls strive to communicate to others through their original creations.

Sue Stack and Barbara Clark work diligently with their artistic abilities.

Clothing

The Clothing Department introduces students to the useful art of sewing and gives them the opportunity to gain valuable knowledge in this domestic field. The students learn the fundamentals in hand and machine sewing.

Lovely clothes in the making.



Drama

Miss Miller works enthusiastically with her drama students toward broadening their cultural background. The productions put on each year exemplify the talent which she develops in each girl.

Physical Education

Through the combined efforts of Miss Rose and Miss Mulvaney, students participate enthusiastically in volleyball, basketball, baseball, and gymnastics. Badminton and tennis which are optional are also offered to interested students. Being physically fit is an important aspect of high school life, therefore all students at Holy Names are urged to take P.E.

Activities

The pursuit of knowledge rests everything on the idea of a world based on diversity, self-determination, freedom.

John F. Kennedy

Summer for girls at Holy Names is full of activities. Many travel as did Cheryl and Karyn Milner and Margaret Predovic with their Girl Scout Troop No. 340. They saved the money from various projects for a two-month tour of Europe.

Ann Dietrich took an ocean voyage to Los Angeles as her prize in the "Harold Harding Memorial Essay Contest".

The Summer Workshop of Nations had two representatives—Barbara Clark and Stephanie Menietti—to study about the world, particularly, Latin America. Another workshop is the Summer School of Catholic Action, held in San Francisco. Some of the girls who attended this year were Mary Angeli, Jean Gaudenzi, Linda Picchi, Ann Slattery and Leslie Kretzmer.

During the summer, Lesleigh Fazzio played her cello for the Young Peoples' Symphony.

Marianne Soldavini attended a class in Microbiology at College of Holy Names. She was also the Holy Names representative to Girls' State in July.

The Year Begins . . .

September brought eager students, old and new, to Holy Names to register for the forthcoming year. A list of activities awaited them, including the Executive Council Pin Ceremony and a "Hello" skit, put on by the executive council. At the Day of Recollection given by Rev. Victor Schymeinsky, M.M., the Holy Spirit was asked to enlighten the minds of all students for a beneficial academic year. The day was concluded by the Senior Ring Ceremony.

The rock garden supplies a conducive atmosphere for meditation at the Day of Recollection.

Mother Marie Rose Play

The "Sisters" relax on the arcade before the performance.

"So that was Mother Marie Rose."

A party in the rock garden, after the play, was enjoyed by all.

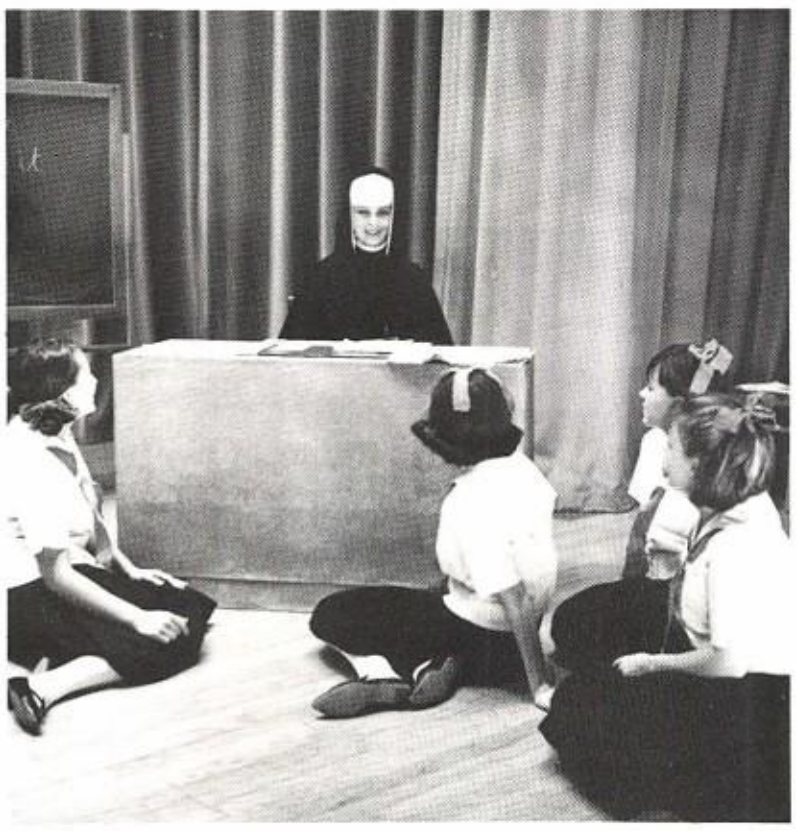
October 6, 1964

Each year on the feast day of Mother Marie Rose the girls in the Senior Class present a play to honor the foundress of the order of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary. This year the play took on a dreamy quality, with Julie Crosby portraying an average Holy Names senior who falls asleep and sees the Community as it was in Canada in 1846. Marty Saunders artfully enacted the role of Mother Marie Rose as she smoothly guided her tiny community through a typical day's work.

Although it was a small production, this play gave us, the students, an opportunity to not only honor the foundress of the Holy Names Community, but also all the Sisters who have joined this teaching order. In this way we hope to express our appreciation for the educational training received from the Sisters of the Holy Names.

Joey Stevens and Peggy Fleitz compare the "uniform of 1846" with Mary Pat Mohr's, which is, itself, an obsolete model.

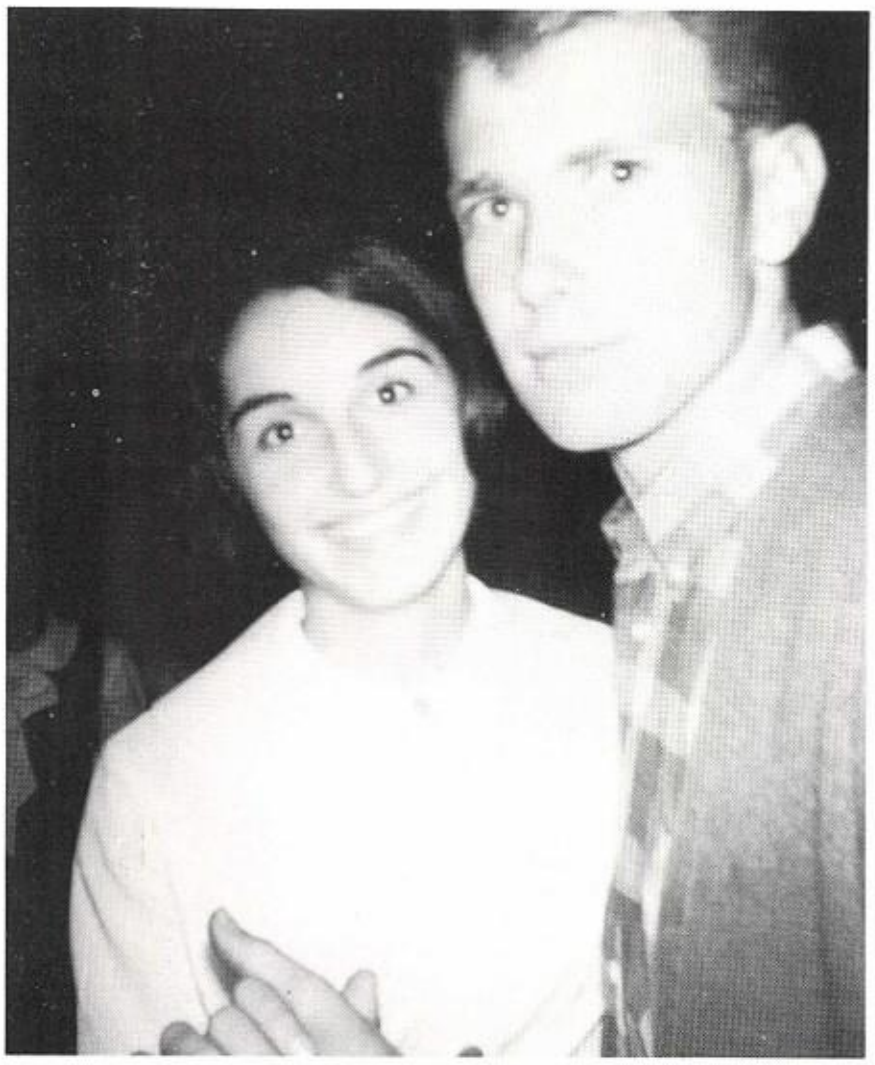
"Surely nothing is too great for God's hands."

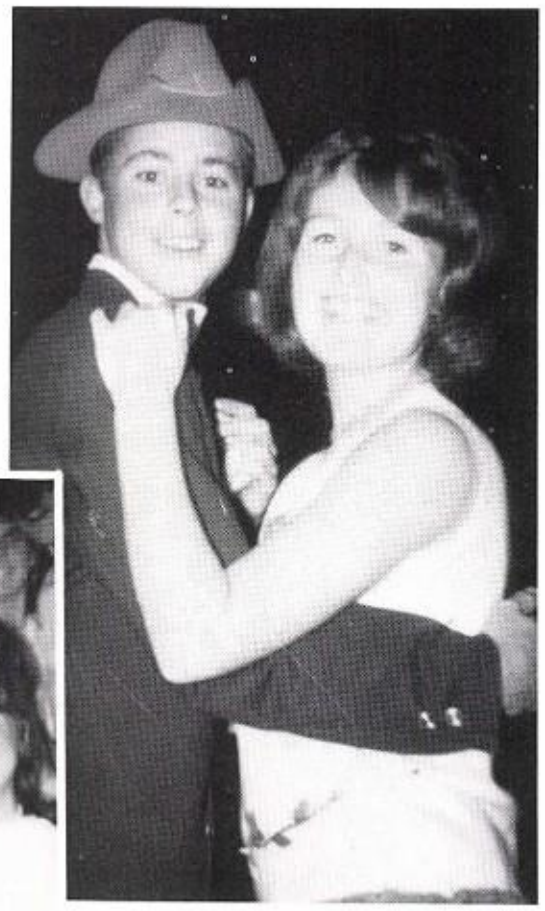


The young students gather around Mother's desk for an informal chat.

G. A. A. Dance

Preceded by much excitement and apprehension, the "Pennant Swing," an open dance sponsored by the GAA, was held on October 23. The dance was restricted to Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, and boys were invited from St. Mary's High School and College, St. Joseph's, St. Elizabeth's, Bishop O'Dowd, and Salesian. Much preparation went into making the dance a success. Barbara Clark, with her hard working committee, proved truly creative in their decorations for the gym. Nicki Thomas, with the bid committee, kept to the theme with their unique pennant bids. Music was arranged by Julie Crosby and Terry Mages organized the refreshments for the dance. Cheryl Milner was general chairman. The evening was such a total success, that the underclassmen are already anticipating next year's dance.

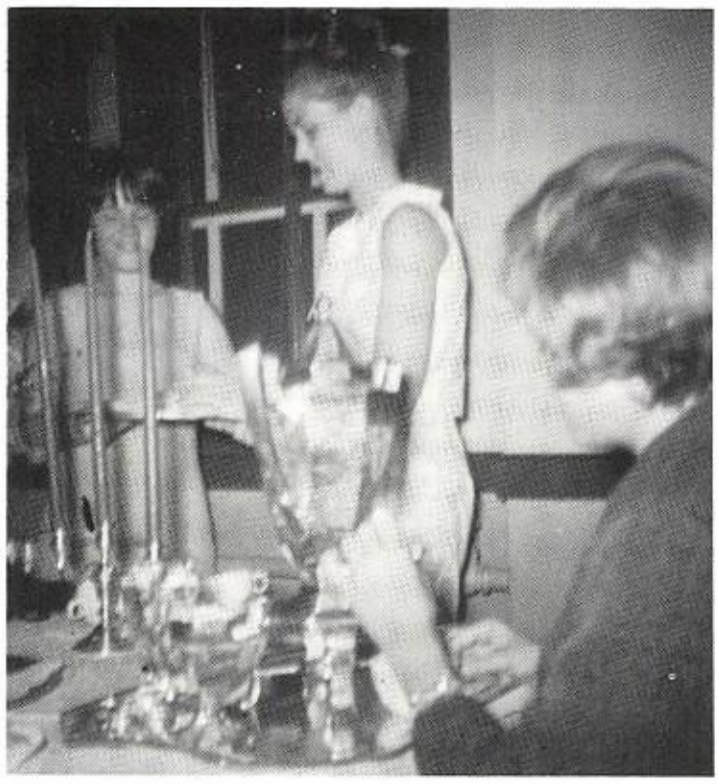




Christine Knight now Mrs. Wesley L. Dawe, a second generation alumna, keeps a school tradition by returning to our chapel to place her wedding bouquet on the altar.

Alumnae

The Alumnae remains a vital part of Holy Names through the bond created by their high school years.



Sue Slater, '64, helps with the fashion show and tea, sponsored by the alumnae, to raise money for their Scholarship Fund.

M. Du Casse, V. Serpa, M. Toomey present the Class of '65 to the alumnae at Homecoming on Laetare Sunday.

Playday

As November rolled around, it was time for our annual intermural volleyball games. Players and spectators from Bishop O'Dowd, Notre Dame, and Presentation High Schools joined Holy Names in an exciting, fun-filled day. Ingenuity and creativity of the day's planning committee were shown in the Olympic theme, colorful and clever favors, and organized games and entertainment. The spirit and sportsmanship of all participants surpassed that of previous years.

During lunch, competition of another type took place as entertainers from the various schools performed. Original and captivating talent was demonstrated.

Of course, H.N. teams emerged victorious at the end of the day. Bruised knees and scratched elbows proved it was not an easy victory. Presentation of awards and the singing of the respective school songs brought the happy day to a close.

Holy Names' volleyball season ended with a play-off between the Senior and Freshman teams. The contest was decided after four hard-fought games. The outcome is evident from the pictures below.

We Wish You A Merry Christmas

"Then shall all the trees of the forest exult before the Lord, for he comes."

Jesse Tree Symbols

"HO! HO! HO! I brought my wife and elves with me!"

As with every great feast, much joy and expectation enhance its arrival. This fact is even more prevalent during the Christmas season. To usher in this long awaited event, we had a Jesse Tree ceremony. Each section presented a symbol of the geneology of Christ. After the gaiety of ornamenting lockers and classrooms, the culminating activity of many hopeful hearts arrived.

The Student Body pauses to honor the New Born Babe.

"Bearing gifts we travel afar . . ."

The Christmas program delighted our eyes and ears with the tinseled tree, the melodious voices of our choral and the St. Mary's glee club (under the combined direction of Sister Rose Colette and Brother Patrick, F.S.C.). We also enjoyed the performances of Christmas Eve in the little town of Bethlehem. Thus, nearing the end of all our jubilation, the Epiphany put the final touches on a season which carries its warmth throughout the year.

"Where did the boys come from?"

The Music Department

Talented music students participated in public recitals during the year. The musicians' long hard hours of practice resulted in delightful performances. Vocalists, pianists, and students of other musical instruments showed skill and interpretation. The recitals augmented the cultural aspect of our education.

Martha Rolley and Christine Breitenbach performed in the general recital for the enjoyment of all Presents . . .

The seventh grade recital stands a milestone in the road of music. These girls have completed the course of study for the Junior Certificate. These certificates will be presented to Marilou Bartolero, Denise Lilian, Julie Meirstin, Vicki Serpa, Marianne Soldavini, and Nicki Thomas at Honors Assembly in June.

Marilou Bertolero and Vicki Serpa, who performed for their Junior Certificates in music. Marilou skillfully played Chopin and Sinding and Vicki sang two selections of Mendelssohn.

Denise Lilian and Nicki Thomas, who masterfully performed for an attentive audience, relax in the setting of their concert. Denise played selections by Kabalevsky, Schumann, and Mendelssohn and Nicki played selections by Grieg, Bach and Rachmaninoff.

Marianne Soldavini, who played "La Comparsa" by Lecuona, and a selection of Brahms.

Semester Elections

"Democracy in action" might be the words to describe the semester elections held in January each year. Each candidate for an office of one of the three major organizations is required to take out a permit card and petition and openly declare herself a candidate. The students vote—and the girls assume their offices for the second semester. Homeroom elections are also held, giving each girl an opportunity to share in student government at Holy Names.

Mission Half-Day

Our annual Mission Half-Day, sponsored by the S.S.C., was an outlet of fun and a chance to help others. The theme, Frontier Day, was visibly displayed throughout the day in the program for the Queen and the decorations of the carnival booths. This year's Half-Day was profitable, both for the students and the missions. The entire activity, devoted to the missions, provided each girl with an opportunity to be spirited, skillful and generous.

Cheryl Lucia and Sharon Cline are festively dressed for Frontier Day.

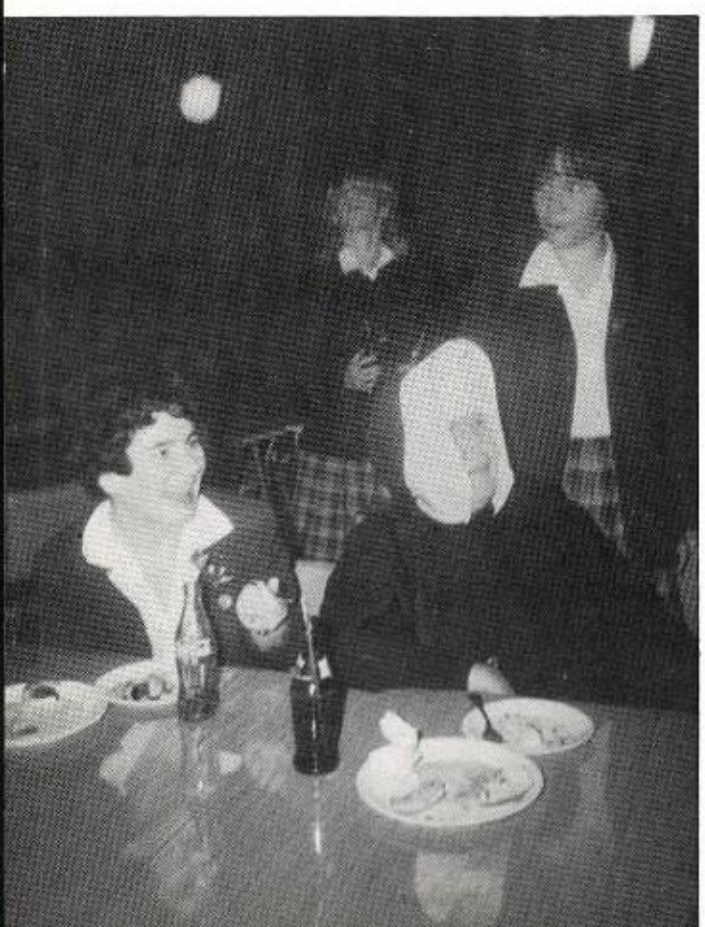
The Senior Sodalists went to Mission San Jose and visited Serra Center for Girls. They made many friends, and continued this friendship through correxpondence.

The Sodalists at Holy Names work to perfect themselves in various areas. Apostolically, they enrich themselves by giving to others. The Junior Sodalists made doll and baby clothes to be sent to the mission run by the Sisters of the Holy Names in Peru. These and other projects helped them see the fruits of real apostolic work.

The SSC At Work

Following the example set by the GAA officers, the SSC gave the hideaway a new look with a fresh coat of paint. Here the officers are pictured with the tools of the trade. Missing is their most devoted worker—Mr. Soldavini!

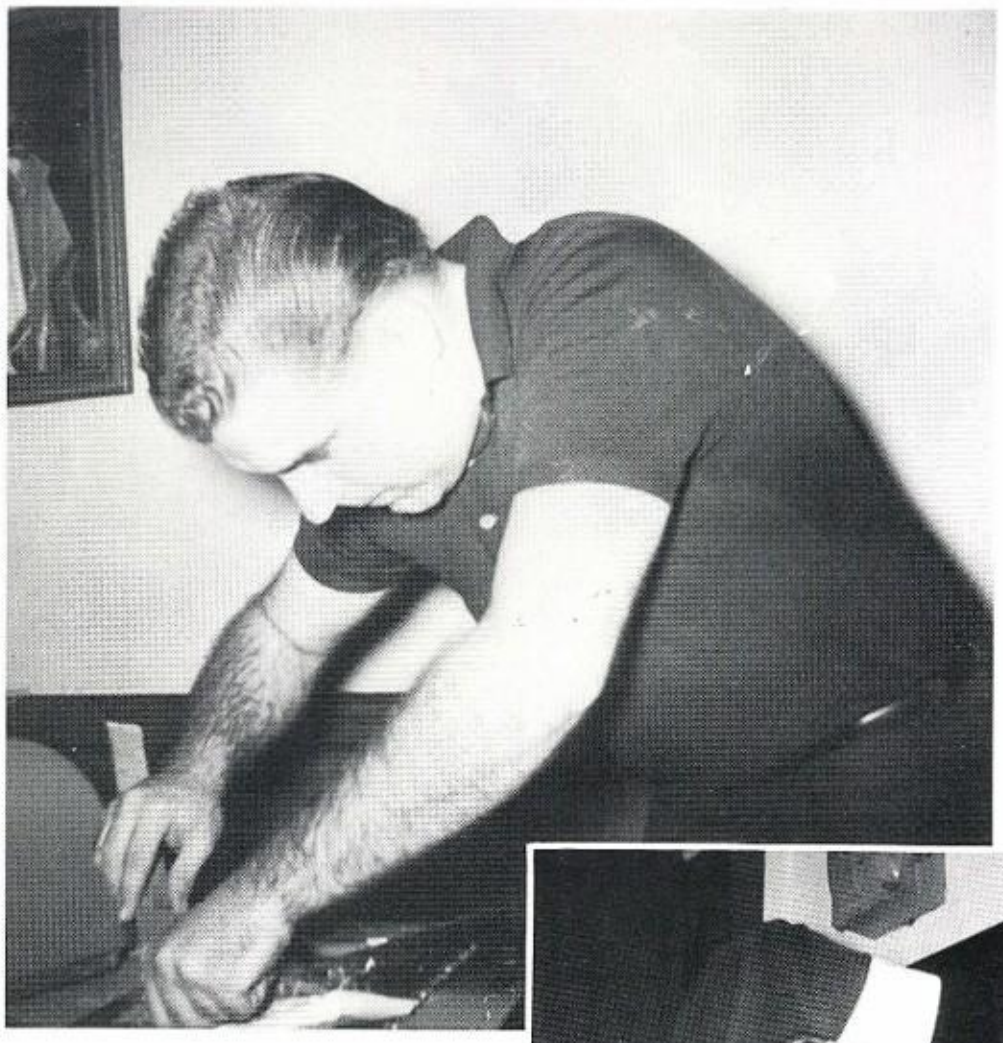
Having won a hard-fought Christmas Card Drive, the Junior Class was rewarded by the SSC with a movie and barbeque. Surely they spread the idea of a MARY CHRISTmas and the reward was well earned and enjoyed by all.



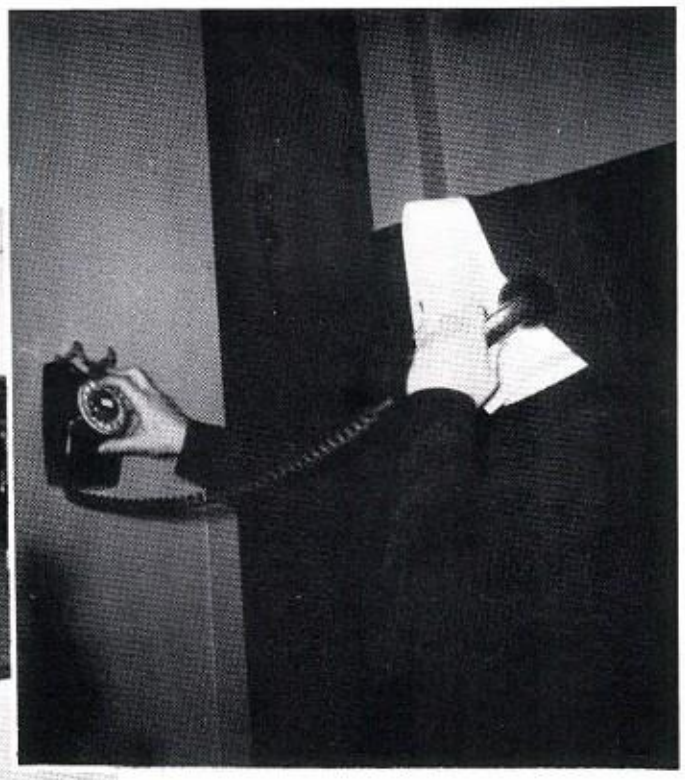
Having completed a retreat at Santa Cruz, the Senior girls from Ramona High School in Alhambra paid a short visit to Holy Names. The Seniors met the Southerners at the front drive, toured the school with them, and all enjoyed a delicious dinner, courtesy of Dominidor and the SSC. New friends were made and a fun-filled evening was shared by both groups.

On the feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe, patroness of the Sodality, the Sodalists renewed their Act of Consecretion to Our Lady. After a Mass held for the girls and their families, they consecrated their every action to the Blessed Mother. Following the ceremony, a light brunch was the order of the day.

Changes For The Better



Mr. Francis Rourk deserves and receives our gratitude.



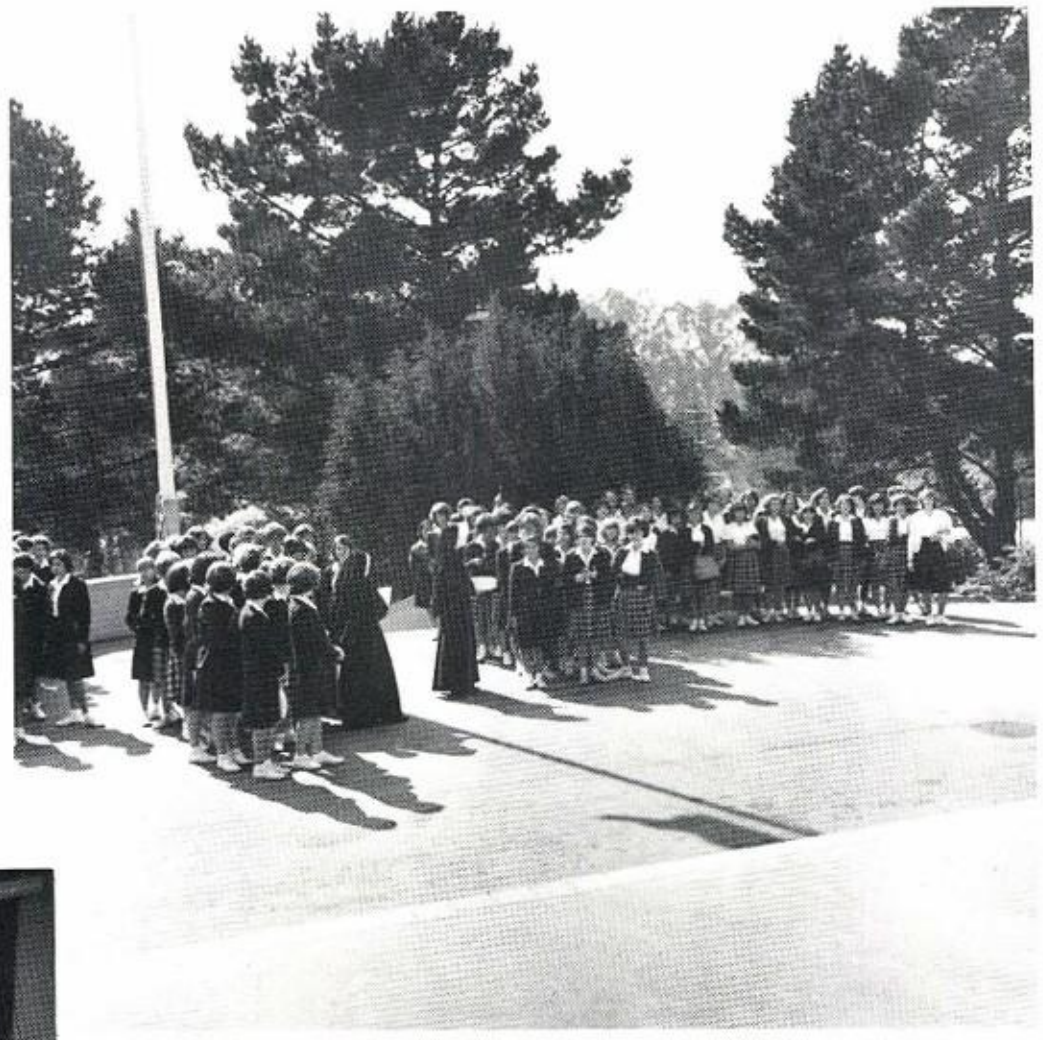
What a difference the modern mechanism makes in sight and efficiency.

"Your attention, please" became a familiar sound at Holy Names this year. During the winter months, Mr. Francis Rourk, who donated a public address system, installed console and speakers throughout the school. Under his direction, Mr. Terry Bills, Pat Rourk, and members of the Dads' Club carried out the intricate system. As a result of their generosity and skill, a new and efficient communication system developed, and the students grew accustomed to the "talking boxes".

We are deeply indebted to Mr. Rourk, Mr. Rascob, the Dads' Club, and to those who aided Holy Names financially for the Sprinkler System.

Genial Pat Rourk demonstrates he has the "know how".

A pleased Fire Inspector



The silence, the hurried pace, roll call, the empty building were the result frequently of the Inspector and the fire alarm. Now a new safety measure has been added.

Irene Delsel employs her imagination and finds a unique use for our latest "decoration", the sprinkler system.

Freshman Pat and Senior Sally Morrill wear the new and old uniform.

When the Freshman Class arrived, the girls were dressed in unfamiliar apparel—unfamiliar to Holy Names. But new faces and new uniforms were only a small part of the many changes this year. The Fire Marshall instructed that a sprinkler system be installed to protect students and faculty from danger. Throughout the summer, the lovely black pipes were installed and painted.

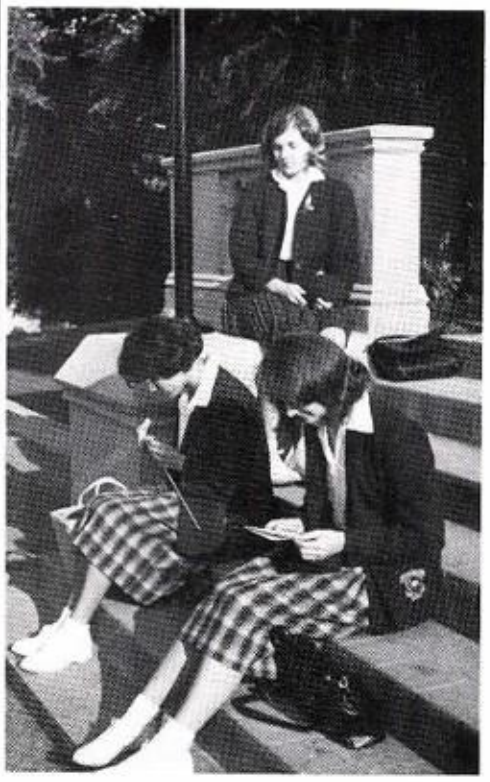
The problem of an increased student body and the use, therefore, of the two auditoriums for assemblies has been met through the generosity of Mr. Robert Rascob. A closed circuit T.V. makes simultaneous viewing possible. It will also be of benefit in team teaching.

Annual Retreat— "Renewal"

Renewal sums up in one word the basic theme of the Retreat this year. Acting as Retreat Masters were Fathers Bosch and Vogel, C.SS.P. Both priests placed emphasis on the student's role as a Christian—as a member of the Mystical Body. They also pointed out the true values in life and showed how important charity and chastity are in the development of the whole person.

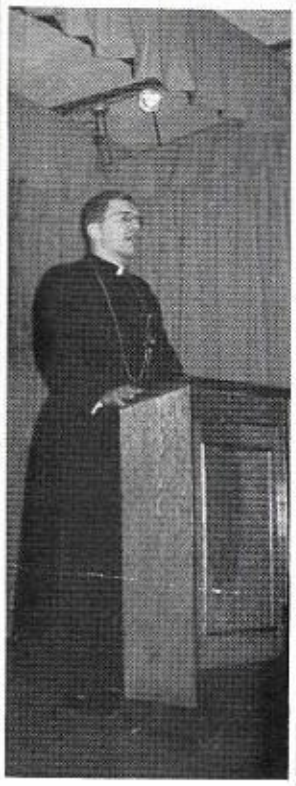
Again this year, there was a divided retreat, with Father Bosch preparing the Juniors and Seniors for their new lives in the world, and Father Vogel explaining facts pertinent to lower classmen. To give students a respite from the silence kept during the rest of the day, talking in the Social Hall and recreation in the tennis courts was allowed during lunch periods.

During free time, Sister William Paul's section participates in a heated discussion.



Knitting, quietly thinking, or reading, we gain the benefits of the retreat.

In the privacy of the priest's suite, Father Vogel makes a point clear to two lower classmen.



Father Bosch presents a commanding figure as he explains the "Mystical Christ".

Students found the rock garden to be a favorite place of meditation between conferences.

Senior Retreat

On January 31st, forty-four fortunate Seniors began a closed retreat at the beautiful retreat house, Villa Maria del Mar, at Santa Cruz. Father Josef Stefanelli proved a truly wonderful inspiration to the girls with his provocative conferences on man and his purpose. He was willing and able to talk to them between conferences and a number of girls took advantage of this time to confer with him. Many problems were solved and new outlooks formed during the days of retreat. Those days will remain in the girls' memories as a priceless experience.

A place of peace and tranquility.

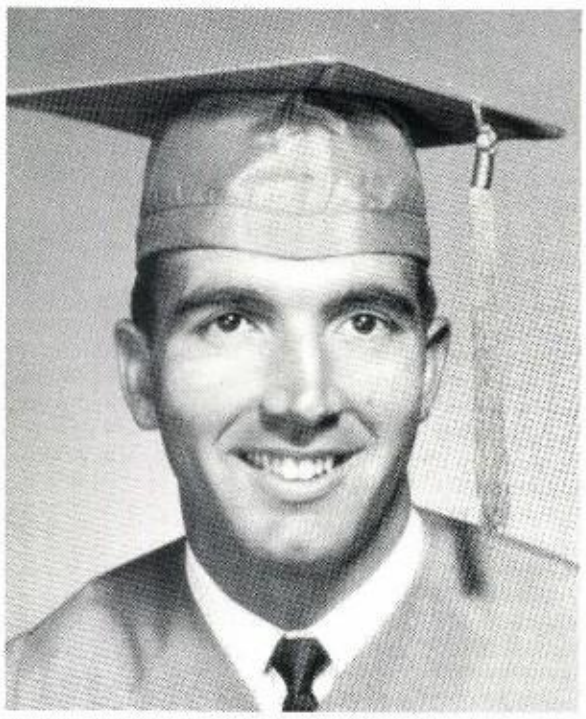
An informal question period ended each day.

A private conference.

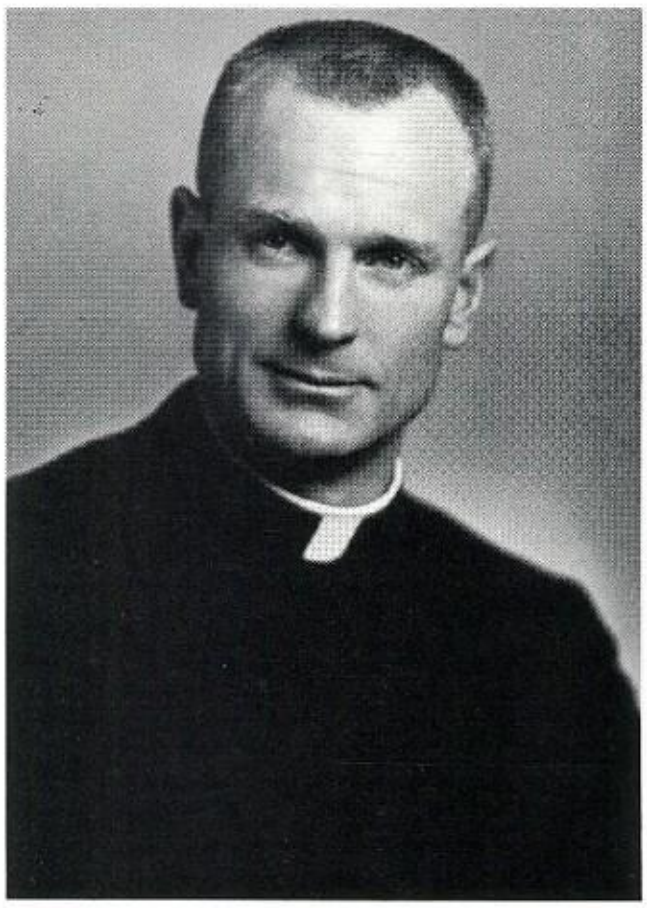
Numerous speakers shared opinions and knowledge with the student body. Among the most delightful was Mr. Ralph Moody, author of Little Britches and other semi-biographical novels. Another guest who widened students' horizons was Miss Virginia Byrne, lawyer and Ph.D. candidate, presently an instructor in English at CHN. She spoke to members of CSF.



Mr. Dick Gonsalves, senior at St. Mary's College, gave an excellent talk on historical research and its value to one of the Civics-Sociology classes.

Father Gregoria Rienzo, M.M., spoke to the students about his parish work at Nuestra Senora del Pilar in Arequipa, Peru. His account of the Sisters of the Holy Names who staff the school there made mission life very real and appealing.

Guest Speakers



Father John M. Klopper, Vocation Director of the Oakland diocese, consulted the Executive Council on the response of teenagers to the question of religious vocations. He also headed a panel on the subject given to the Senior sections.

Mary Louise Hickey, always a favorite, entertained parents and Alumnae who had contributed to the school fund for defraying the cost of the Sprinkler System. Her presentation of "A Majority of One" was a tangible expression of faculty gratitude.

Mr. Nicholas Kreismanis, Instructor in History and Languages at the College of Holy Names, contrasted the democratic facade of the Russian government with the reality of American democracy. Formerly a citizen of Latvia, Mr. Kreismanis impressed the students deeply with his first-hand knowledge and perception.

Mr. Thomas L. Fike, Treasurer of the Berkeley Catholic Interracial Council, spoke to the students in October. His topic, "The Moral Issue Involved in Proposition 14," supplemented the girls' knowledge of the controversial points in the November election.

Reverend Francis Maurovich, Editor of "The Catholic Voice," and a member of the press attending the Second Vatican Council, shared his experiences with the student body and explained the steps taken at the second session.

Reverend Donald Sheehan, a Maryknoll missionary from Taiwan, spoke to the Student Spiritual Council of his work there. Father showed slides of his parish and told of the conditions in his area. Here he is shown with Janet Walsh, mission coordinator.

A Trip To The Opera

Members of the Music Department, along with some members of the Senior Class, spent a delightful afternoon at the opera. "The Bartered Bride" proved enjoyable to all who attended.

At the opera, "The Bartered Bride" Barbara Clark and Sue Schralla (below) were awarded Honorable Mention for their clever and unique posters submitted to the Art in Opera Contest.

The Model UN

The Model United Nations was once again held at the University of California at Berkeley. This year Holy Names sent the delegation of Dahomey, which is a small African nation. The Model UN provides an excellent opportunity to enrich oneself intellectually and culturally.

Special Recognitions

Cindy Coleman, Ann Schindler, and Sally Slyngstad were school contestants for the Lions Club Speech Contest. Sally qualifies as School representative for the area.

Cindy Coleman was the school representative for the "Voice of Democracy" speech contest.

Liz Cardinale won the Stonestown art exhibit award for her water color. Gerry Gabriele also merited this award.

Lesleigh Fazzio, Margaret Kennedy and Mary O'Brien attended the Heart Research Day at Children's Hospital. It was sponsored by the Alameda County Heart Association.

Maddie Stephens (r) attempts to explain some techniques of debate to four members of the newly organized debate club. Standing: Jan Walsh, Joanne McDaniel. Seated: Sandy Ragan, Jan Vela.

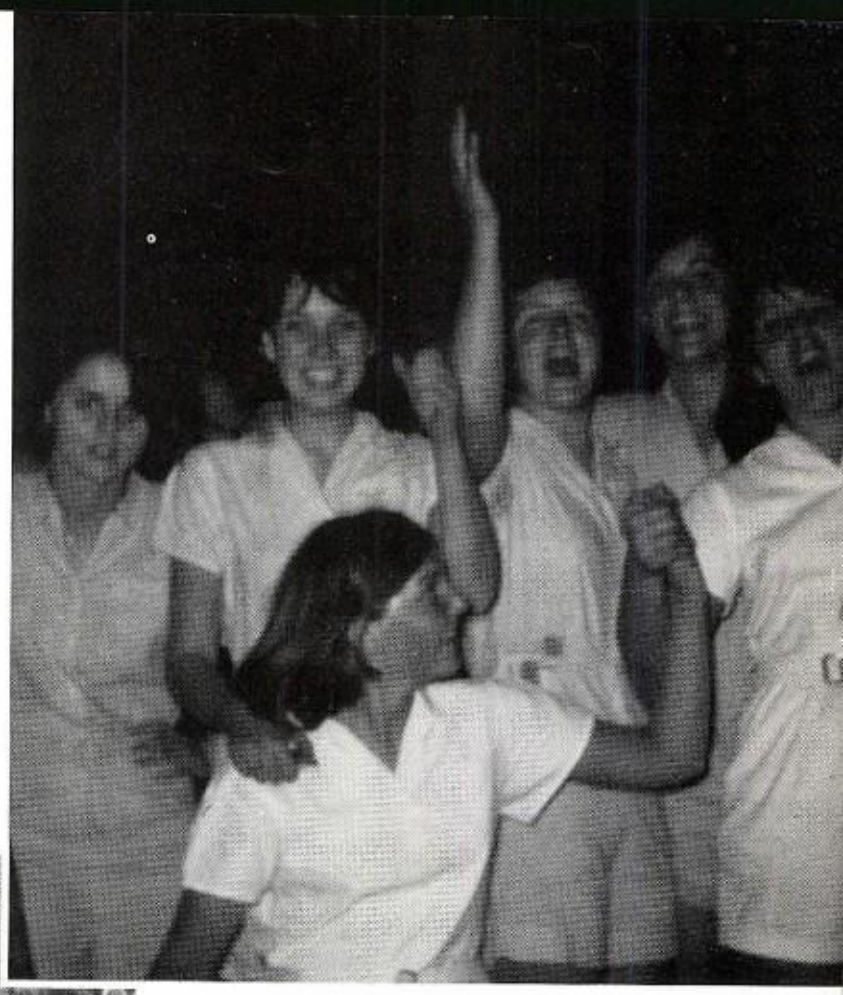
The GAA

O'Dowd Basketball Playday was held March 6, 1965. Although Holy Names was not entirely victorious, the girls had a fun-filled day. Entertainment and refreshments were provided and the games were exciting and action-packed.



Game Day, March 12th, was the test of strength between the Juniors and the Seniors. The Koala Bears of '65 proved their outstanding ability to play basketball by a victory over the Leprechauns of '66.

The Children's Play

"Puss 'n' Boots," the first .Children's Play to be produced at Holy Names, proved to be a successful endeavor by the Cap 'n' Bell. The cast was well received by the children from local elementary schools.

Sweethearts

This year, Holy Names High School in collaboration with volunteer actors from many different schools, presented Victor Herbert's "Sweethearts." Many long hours were spent by the cast and crew to insure a successful performance. The colorful costumes and witty dialogue combined with the natural ability of the actors made each performance an overwhelming success. Holy Names High School would like to thank the entire cast, choral, orchestra and especially Miss Laura Miller for directing "Sweethearts."

Senior Ball

Warm and friendly—the perfect atmosphere for an evening of fun and dancing. The Senior Ball will be cherished in the heart of each Senior as the best dance of her high school years.

Junior Prom

The Mira Vista Country Club provided a beautiful setting for a beautiful dance. Happiness was the order of the evening.

Freshman Dance

April 30th marked the date of the first dance for the Freshman class. The theme, "Land of a Thousand Dances," was well carried out by the gay decorations prepared by Lyette Anillo and her crew. Other committee heads who helped to make the dance such a success were: Patti Berta, refreshments; Vanda Monti, bids; and Pat Guillory, floor. As these photos indicate, it was an evening enjoyed by all.

Concert Hall Premiere

Much hard work was entailed in the presentation of the "Concert Hall Premiere," a joint production of Holy Names and Saint Mary's High School students and faculties, combining classical music with that of Broadway musicals. Those involved, however, reaped the benefit from their participation. All three performances, held on May 6, 7, and 8, were followed by standing ovations from the audience.

On Recognition Night, many Senior girls received acknowledgement for the honors to which they were entitled. This evening was sponsored by the Dad's Club and because of the acknowledgements given to the girls, the Dad's Club donated books for the school Library. Their recognition brought honor not only to the girls themselves but also to the school, faculty, and parents.

Congratulations!

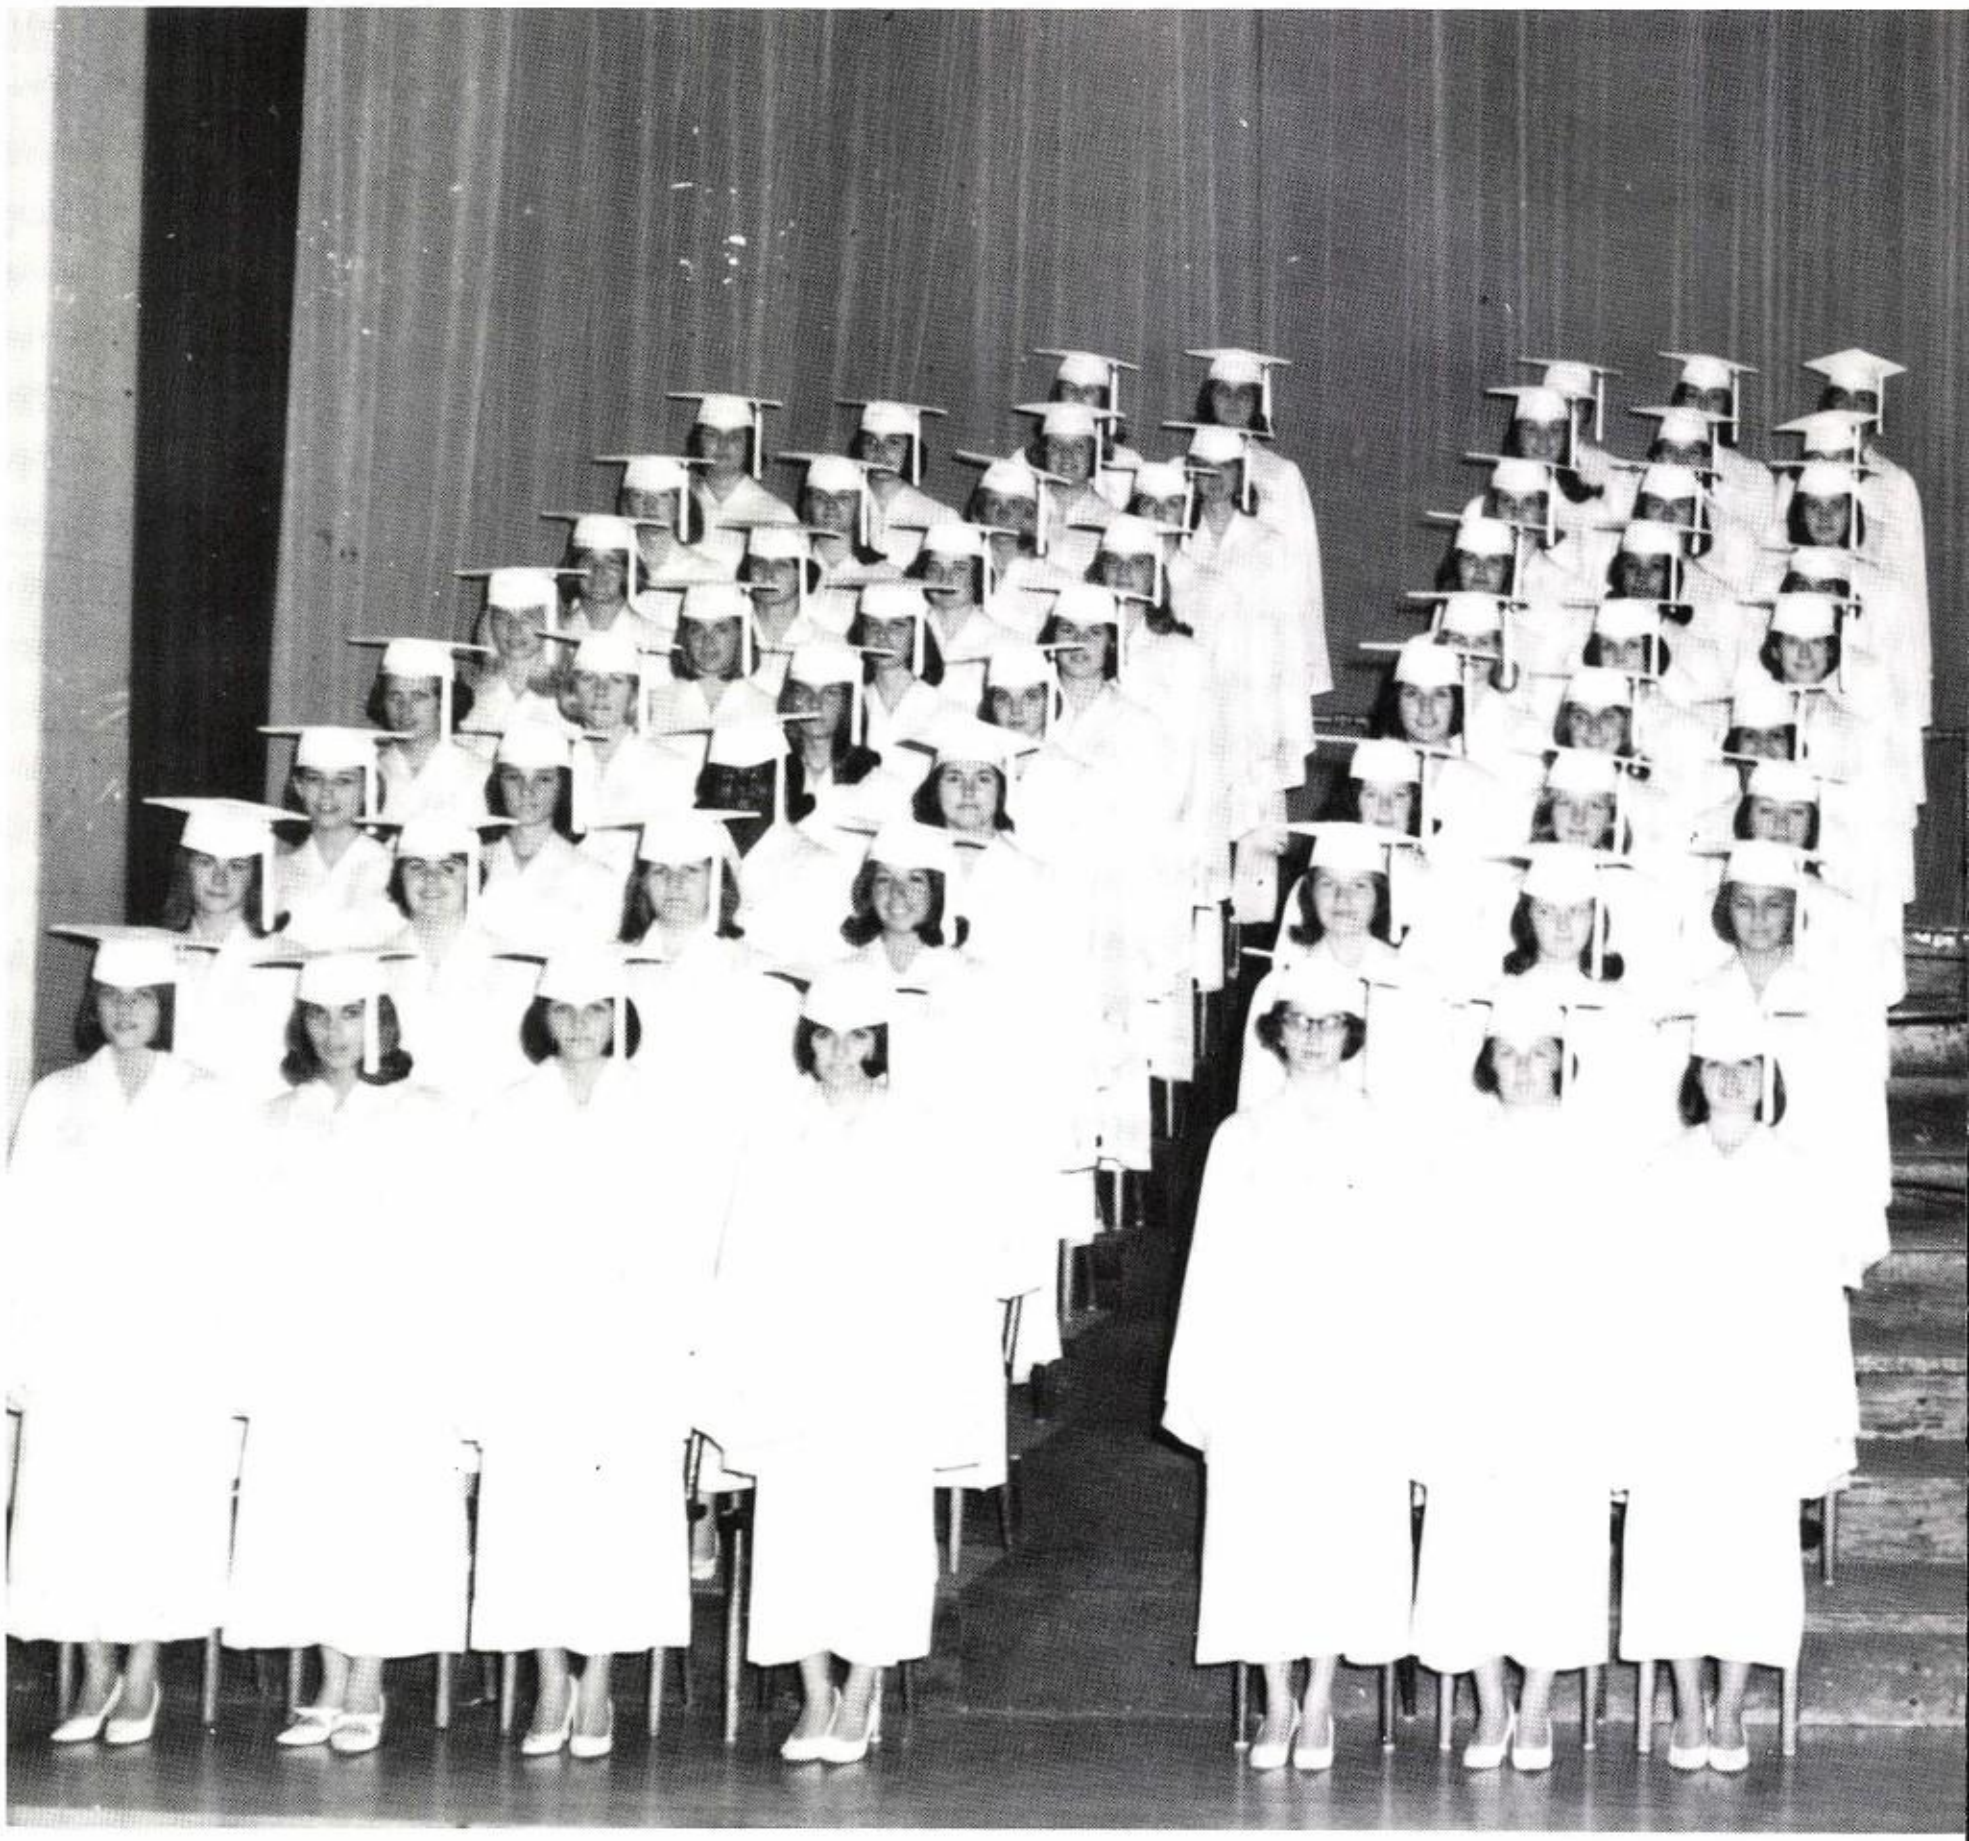
We Honor Our Queen

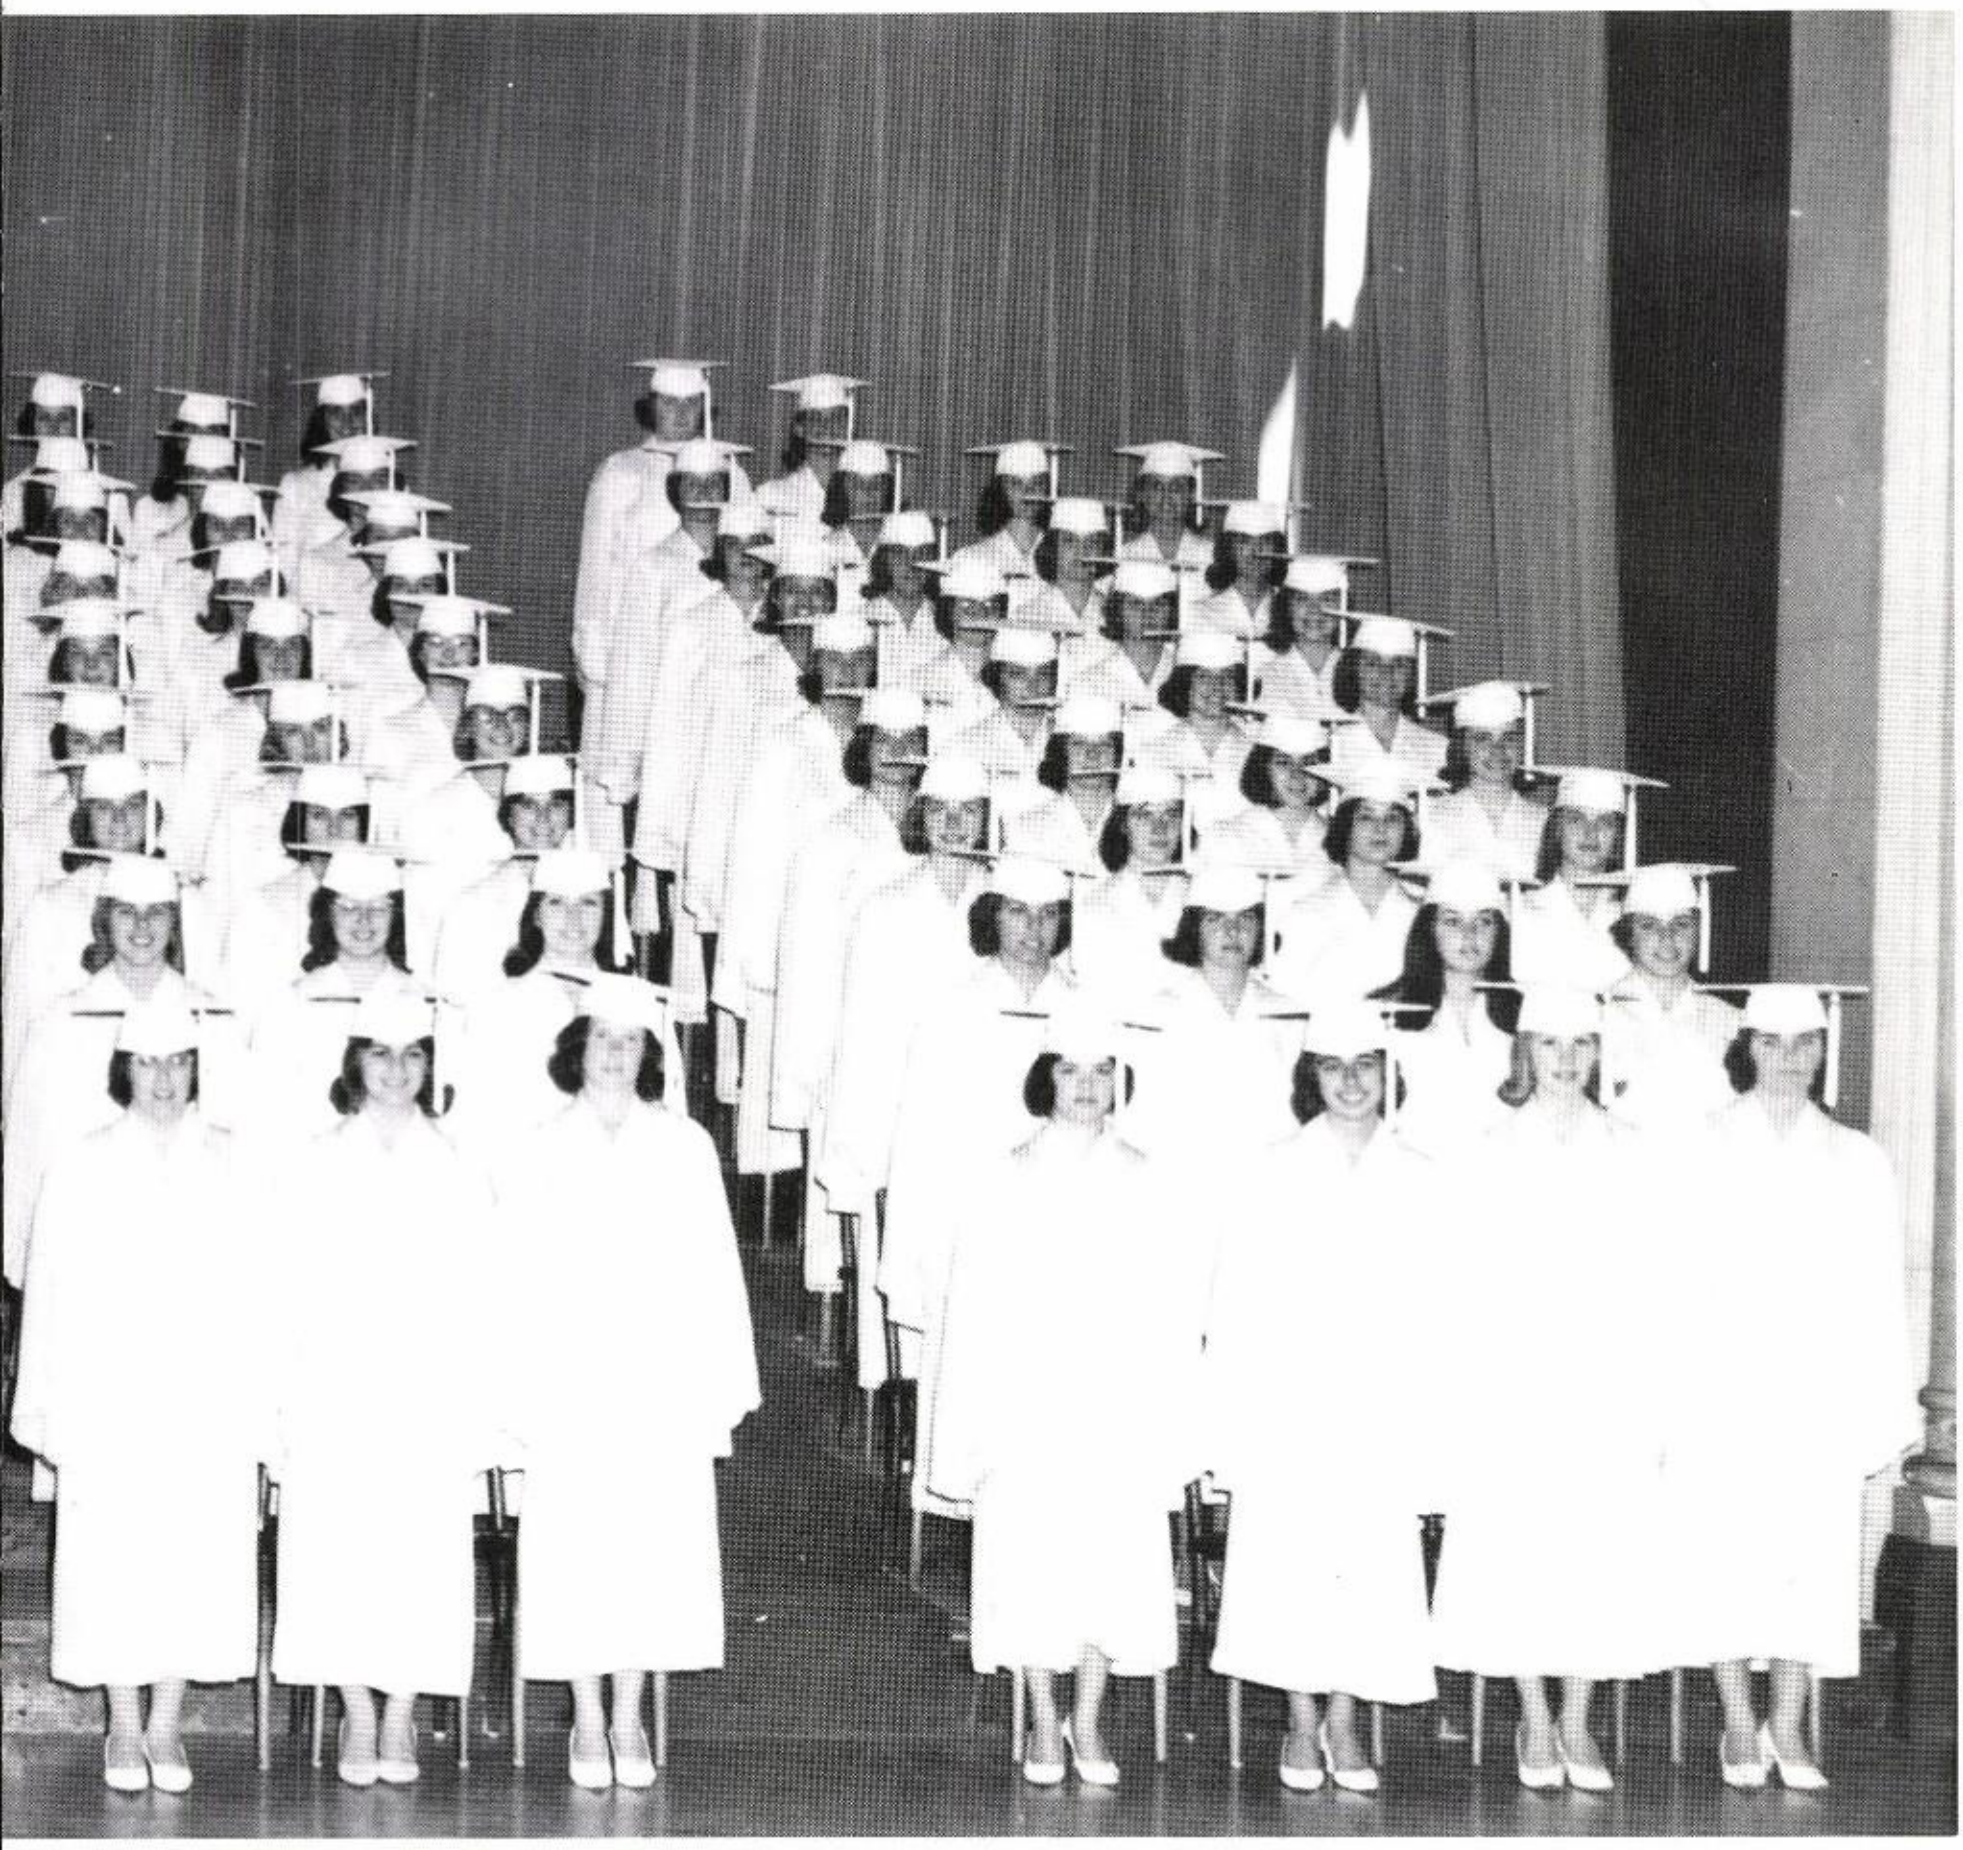
On May 24, in a spirit of love and adoration, our entire student body paid homage to Mary in our annual May Procession. The air was filled with song as each section president offered her bouquet to Mary. Marianne Soldavini, S.S.C. President, followed with the traditional crowning of Our Lady: a crown for her head and a wreath at her feet. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament appropriately concluded our special May devotion to our Queen and our Mother.



"Gigi, you're not at all that funny awkward little girl I knew. Oh no, overnight there's been a breathless change in you. When did your sparkle turn to fire and your warmth become desire? Oh what miracle has made you the way you are?"

There has been a breathless change in you . . . No longer are you "students of today." Tomorrow has arrived and you are its leaders. This group will no longer be together as it is now. Every time you try, there will always be at least one person missing. You will have different friends, and you will lose the security and routine you found at Holy Names.

"When did your sparkle turn to fire? When did your warmth become desire?" It has been gradual . . . Over four years you have matured; have become more aware that it is more important to love than to be loved; to serve than to be served; to give than to be given to; to lead than to be led. Over the last four years you have evolved from little girls into Christian women who will be our leaders. To be a Christian leader, you will need the help of the Holy Spirit. This is why we celebrate this Mass this morning: To thank heaven for you and to ask the Holy Spirit to guide you. In Him and through Him you can wash away the stains of sin; water and quench that which is dried out; heal the wounds and bruises; bend a little that which is rigid; warm with love the hearts of ice; guide that which goes astray.



Your sparkle will turn to fire through the fire of the Holy Spirit. Your warmth becomes desire when you desire to love as Christ did. This, then, is the miracle that made you the way you are: God the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.

There is not much more to say. I could speak long thanks to those who have helped you to this point in life, but I think you appreciate it. Let's just say the world is waiting for you. No matter the future—as mother, nun, professional woman, take to heart the words of the marriage ceremony: "The future, with its hopes, its disappointments, its successes, its pleasures, and its pains, its joys and its sorrows, is hidden from your eyes. You know that these elements are mingled in every life and so are to be expected in your own. And so not knowing what is before you, you go to lead the world for better or for worse, for richer or for poorer, in sickness and in health, until death."

You are now Christian leaders. "Whatever sacrifices you make, always make them generously. Sacrifice is usually difficult and irksome. Only love can make it easy; perfect love can make it a joy."

Girls, you have that love; you have that talent; you have God. Girls, the world is waiting for you.

As we sit upon the stage in our graduation gowns looking out into the sea of faces—the student body we leave behind—we think fondly of our years at Holy Names.

In the back of the auditorium we see expectant faces which bring back memories of our wistful freshman year. As symbols of our class, we chose St. Bernadette as our patroness, the koala bear as our mascot, the violet as our flower, and lavender and white as our colors. Our motto, "students of today, leaders of tomorrow," was chosen to guide us through our high school years. The first signs of our victorious spirit became apparent in the Frosh-Soph Volleyball game. Watching the seniors graduate at the end of the year, we wondered if we would ever walk down that same graduation aisle.

In the balcony we see the sophomores —smiling in warm familiarity. We remember how much older and wiser we felt, returning as responsible sophomores. We grew in love and knowledge of our school. After winning the Patron Drive, the Soph Hop was next on the calendar. "Tonite" was one dance we will never forget. Immersed in our many activities, each of us became more a part of the school we love.

And there sitting behind the seniors' now empty places, we see the juniors. Volleyball Gameday, and "Moonlight and Roses", our informal, are vivid memories we share. Our Junior Prom, held at Mira Vista Country Club, was a night of wonder for all.

The Senior Banquet, following in Italian Renaissance theme, was unusually beautiful. Finally, tears fell at the singing of our farewell song to the departing Seniors. We sensed how close we stood to being the mighty Seniors.

There before us, we see our places in the front, symbolic of the leadership we held as Seniors. Flowers and colored ribbons in our hair, we remember how proud we were the first day we took those places. The Senior Informal, like our previous dances was a complete success. The Mother Marie Rose Play, the Wassail Party, and the traditional caroling in the halls, helped to make the first semester memorable for each of us.

Bamboo bids heralded the coming of the Senior Informal, an evening which proved to be enjoyable for all.

Senior Play practices began early and before we realized it, a sudden surge of activities fell upon us during our last three months of high school life. The Senior Ball with all its elegance, the picnic with the usual flourish of horns and decorations told us that graduation day would soon arrive. We give thanks to the Juniors and Sophomores for all their hard work and creative efforts put into making our Senior Banquet and Breakfast such memorable affairs. Now, suddenly, we find ourselves in white caps and gowns, making our wills and singing the familiar songs of graduation. We feel tears sting our eyes, knowing we must leave this place of memories. Thank you, Holy Names, for four wonderful years!

A typical scene at our informal!

The Junior Class is one of immeasurable spirit and tireless energy. With these qualities at hand, they undertook the project of presenting the Junior Informal. For weeks the different committees worked diligently to assure a good time for all. A Discotheque theme was chosen and the gym was magically transformed into a delightful French cafe.

"Fight for green and white" is the motto of the Junior cheerleaders, Linda Repetto, Debby Gerner, and Sue Damele.

dreamy-eyed . . . dazed . . . delighted.

A new French dance???

The bids were artistically created and, as an added attraction, printed in French. Each girl breathlessly awaited the night of January 9th. The many hours of planning and hard work were rewarded by a very successful evening.

Class of '67

Overflowing with zeal and determination, the class of '67 started the year off by winning the N.O. cup and the Echoes Drive. Spurred to action by their class motto, "Onward and Upward" and by their patron, Saint George, they were the first class to win the Spirit Plaque which was awarded to the class which had shown the most spirit. With their red and white colors flying brightly and mighty dragon to lead them, their enthusiasm was contagious throughout the year.

The Sophomore cheerleaders, Sue, Diana, and Greer are always ready to spur their class on to victory.

. . . A moment to relax

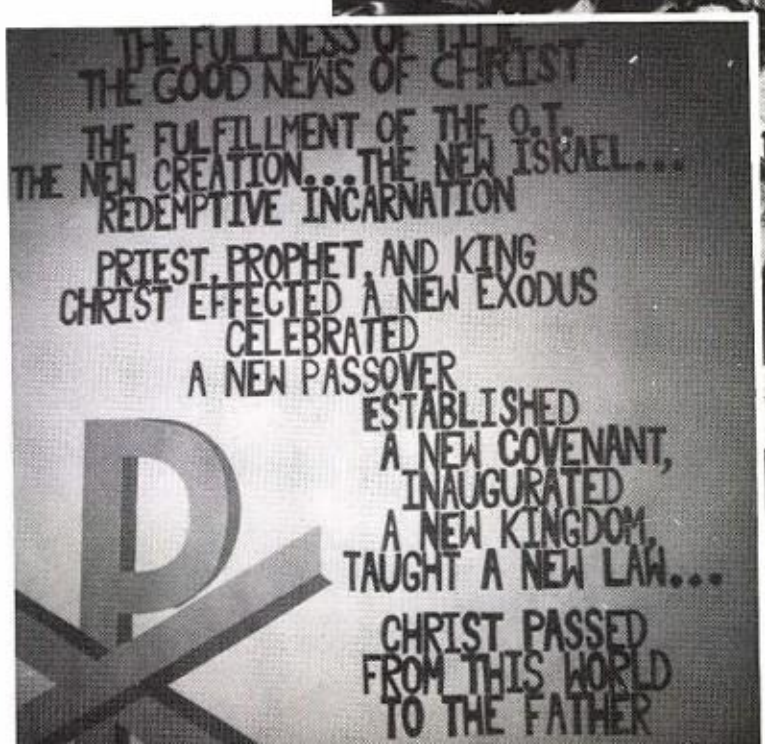
Class Of '67

The spirit and ability of the Sophomores are reflected in their many activities throughout the school year. The Soph Hop, their first Holy Names dance, proved to be a success in every way. Their undying spirit was noted by the other classes, and they certainly fulfilled their role as members of the student body.

The generousity of the Sophomores flows over to their poor family at Christmas time.

A ferocious dragon!!

Last minute preparations for La Festa Veneziana.



A Sophomore bulletin board depicts one facet of their religion course.

"Happiness is our first dance."

Class of '68

United We Stand, the knight's code of honor, was chosen by the class of '68. For like knights, they are courageous and loyal. Their patronness, Saint Joan of Arc served her country. Imitating her example, they strive to develop her attributes in their own lives.

Blue is a symbol of the class; it shows courage, majesty and zeal. Gold is the image of brillance and wealth. Together, blue and gold signify loyalty and royalty. The blue bachelor's button, with it's closely knit petals brings to mind their motto "United We Stand." The members of this class have a great future. Through their unity they grow and develop into homorable Christians.

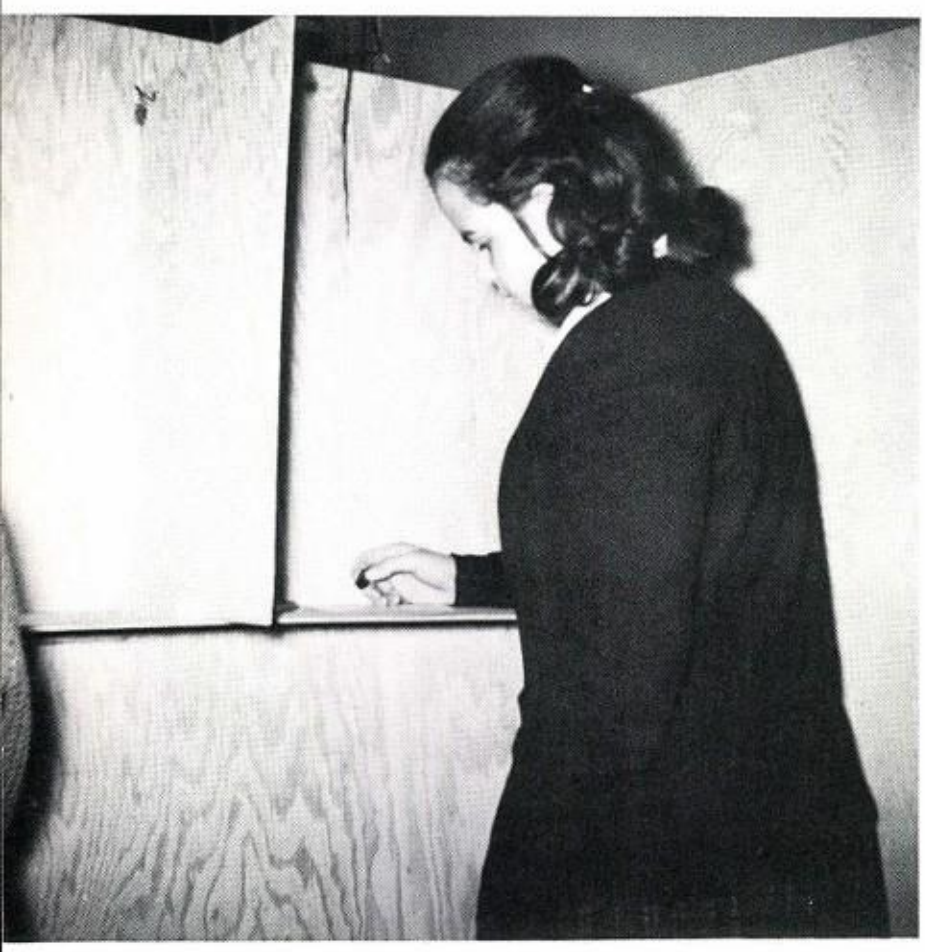
This year, Holy Names held "Eighth-Grade Day", a day which gave grammar school graduates from the Bay Area the opportunity to see our school. The day began with Mass followed by brunch. Soon afterward, the Freshman Class, responsible for the day's success, provided services such as taking groups of girls on tours of the school. Later in the afternoon, the Seniors' presented tableaux on the year's activities, student officers outlined the functions of the major organizations, the orchestra gave a musical presentation, and the faculty acquainted the parents of the girls with the purposes of a Holy Names education.

Each year the Dads Club holds a Freshman Father-daughter Night in order to introduce the fathers to the Club. The atmosphere was gay, the refreshments served by the Juniors, delicious, and the talks given by Major Organization Presidents, informative. All guests agreed that the evening was a success.

After the Student Body turned down various proposals to weight the Sophomore and Junior vote, Freshmen exercised the right to an equal vote in the secret ballot booth.



The Senior Class does not admit defeat too frequently, but on February 6th, the Freshmen gave them good cause to do so. The two classes, having won an equal number of league games, participated in a play-off match, attended by the entire student body. The fourth game ended sorrowfully for the Seniors, but with great jubilance for the Freshmen. Here Joanna Picchi accepts the A cup from Kitty Stenson at a GAA Meeting.

We, the Echoes Staff, thank Sister M. Regina Ann, Superior, for permission to print a memory of the year 1964-1965, and for the repeated use of her Royal typewriter. We gratefully acknowledge the cooperation and help of the Faculty. We are truly appreciative of the fine efforts which the S. K. Smith and American Yearbook Companies have put forth; and, in closing this memory, we thank Mr. Fred Foss and the Don Bosco Studios for the photography included in this edition of Echoes'65.

It was thy hand that made me, no part of me but is thy fashioning . . . Thou the craftsman, though of clay thy handiwork . . . all living things that breathe, all the spirits of mankind, lie in the hollow of thy hand.
